A MAYSVILLE ROMANCE.

Pretty Miss Kitty
Sped out of the city
And over the boulevard she flew;
Her wheel it was steel, and so never could feel
Her trim little figure in blue.

She rode all the day
Toward the land where the hay
Lay growing, yet green 'neath the sun.
Then at eve took her leave with a heart
Touched with grief,
For 'twas time to the city to run.

At "Mickey" bowl'ard
A cop cried "hold hard!"
Sure he'd caught a most elegant prize,
"Where's your light, for its night?" then he said: "You're all right."
When he glanced at her snapping black eyes,

He reined in his horse,
Quite gallant-ly, of course,
"Sure all queens do an escort be needing!"
Now husband and wife down the boulevard called Life,
That cop and sweet Kitty are speeding.

THE LEDGER'S BASEBALL FAN!

Ashland Was Dead Easy Mutton for the Locals in the Two Games Played Yesterday.

MORNING GAME.

We met 'em and they are ours.

Our old enemy, the Boyd county wonders, sustained a Waterloo at the hands of the Local sluggers in the first game of the series at East End Park yesterday morning.

Only seven innings were played, owing to the delay in calling the game, but it was long enough to convince the 250 people present that the visitors were not one, two, three against our boys.

The game was listless throughout and the monotony was only broken when Curle wrapped his bat around the ball and put it into left field for a home run, and a short while later when Wadsworth banged one into center for four corners.

Lever pitched in splendid style.

Kouns also did well.

The visitors owe their disgraceful defeat to their inability to hit Lever.

Struck out—By Lever 7, by Kouns 4.

Time of game—Two hours.

Game called at 3 p. m.

Make it three, Mac, and there will be nothing too good for you.

Wonder how the "Wonders" will explain to Manager Bryan about that dark game?

The Management has decided to try the pony battery, Wadsworth and Mead, this afternoon.

Fred Frank is as fast as ever. Fred has not fully recovered from the injury he received at Gallipoli.

There will be a big crowd out again this afternoon to see the Boyd County Wonders go down before the pony battery.
Lever and Mead.

When Sammy used his "whizzing in"

He had the "Wonders" guessing,
And when he worked his "jump ball"

They learned a wholesome lesson.

"Going to Win"—That's what the home team is going to Maysville to do today.

The boys have all gotten the matter figured down to a fine point, and they will be able to go up against any aggregation of ball-tossers the Maysville management may have secured at that point. There will be no hesitation, but they will get down to work in a fashion that is calculated to spread terror in the lodges of the Maysville fans. The home team has now one of the smoothest working organizations that ever posed in Ashland as a ball team, and if they do not ring in a cold surprise at this series there will be an all around disappointment. The boys appreciate fully the fact that they are to be pitted against a team that knows the game, and they are going prepared to put up the effort of their lives. How it will result will be anxiously watched by the home admirers of the team, and there may be some money taken along just to show the appreciation in which the boys are held by the home talent.—Ashland News.

Nobody will envy The News man the dish of crow he will have to eat tonight.

The Ashland boys swooped down on us
Backed by a mighty breeze
Which blew through Miller's whiskerettes
And fairly shook the trees.

But when they lined up in the field,
(With mourning on each leg),
Our boys soon had a score of ten—
Their goose had laid an egg!

The after-dinner game was but Another drastic pill;
Our score of 12 to their lone 5
Made Cap. O'Neill quite ill.

They play again this afternoon.
And when they leave the plate
The score will read: Poor Ashland none—
The Maysville team three straight!

The Anderson County Deposit Bank, organized under a special charter granted by the Legislature in 1878, yesterday filed papers in the office of the Secretary of State, reorganizing under the new corporation law.

A convict from the mountains taught a negro cook in the Frankfort penitentiary how to distill a kind of moonshine out of molasses, corn bread and rain water.

The mountaineer got gloriously drunk on the product. That, at least, is the story that he asks the incredulous Warden to believe.

Rev. D. D. Chapin and Mr. Hal C.
Curran, who are in attendance on the meeting of the Central Council of the Episcopal Diocese of Kentucky at Louisville, have been honored with positions on the following committees: Rev. D. D.
Chapin on the Committee of Additional Episcopal Supervision, and Mr. Curran on the Theological Seminary and St. Andrew's Brotherhood Committees.

Mac started the fusillade of hits by hitting into center for a corner. A base on balls to Hayes, singles by Reiman, Wadsworth and Mead and errors by Clagget, Kouns and McMullen gave the Locals seven runs, four of which were earned.

Hayes went around the circuit in the fourth. Eddie hit a beauty to center for three bases and trotted home on a passed ball.

Errors by Blackwell and Kouns, Mc-Gann's single, and a stolen base and Mead's corking triple gave our boys three more scores in the fifth.

The Locals scored again in the eighth.

Sutherland singled to center, Mac ran for him, and stole second, and took third after Miller's long fly to Welch was caught and scored on Mead's sacrifice.
